

DIG SUMS OFFERED FOR CURES OF ECZEMA

Thousand Dollar Bonuses Found Unnecessary.

Several cases have become known of persons in different parts of the country who have made standing offers of a thousand dollars each for some course of treatment which would permanently cure them of eczema. The offers were withdrawn when, at a comparatively trifling expense these persons experienced complete cures through the use of poslam, the new skin remedy, which is sold for 50 cents by all good druggists, particularly Lee & Osgood's and Smith's Drug Store in Norwich, the Lurie Drug Store in Putnam, the Woodward Drug Store in Danbury, the Chasebro Drug Store in Willimantic.

Poslam is daily giving evidence of its remarkable healing properties in curing the worst cases of eczema and eradicating facial and other disfigurements of years' standing. All itching is stopped with first application. In minor affections, such as pimples, rash, herpes, beriberi and other forms of itch, etc., results show after an over night application, only a small quantity being required.

No one is asked to purchase poslam without first obtaining one of the free trial packages, which will be sent by mail to any one who will write direct to the Emergency Laboratories, 22 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

Many Flowers For Decorating Graves

About 500 Bouquets were Tied by Woman's Relief Corps and Two were Placed on Each Grave in Soldiers' Lot.

Although it was thought there was going to be a scarcity of flowers for Memorial day, it was proven to the contrary, as there were all that could be used, so generous were the contributions from all sections. A large quantity was received Sunday afternoon and evening, but many more came in on Monday morning. Although late they were welcomed and resulted in about 500 bouquets being tied for decoration purposes. It required about 400 for Yantic cemetery, the others going to the various cemeteries about here.

In the Soldiers' lot in Yantic cemetery, the abundance of flowers allowed the placing of two bouquets on each grave, while ferns and flowers were banked about the cannot and flag pole, resulting in a pretty effect which drew forth many compliments, as it was said the lot had never looked so fine.

The Soldiers' monument at Chelsea parade was decorated, while about the Twenty-sixth regiment's monument were placed potted plants and ferns. The Spanish War Veterans saw that the graves of their deceased members were decorated, while the grave of Private Coburn of the Thirtieth company was marked by a floral form.

The assistance which the Sons of Veterans gave to the veterans was of much value in the decoration of the graves, while at Yantic cemetery, the assistance of George E. Pitcher and Levert Pitcher in locating the graves was valuable.

As usual when the delegation went to the Maplewood and West Plain cemeteries for the placing of the floral emblems on the graves of the fallen heroes, Rev. P. C. Wright accompanied them and at the West Plain cemetery they were met by Rev. J. G. Ward of the Lefthand Baptist church. An appropriate service was held, with many attending.

The committee from the Woman's Relief Corps having charge of the making of the bouquets included Mrs. Gertrude Tootill, Mrs. Laura J. Hutchins and Mrs. J. Anella Stetson.

OBSERVANCE OF MEMORIAL DAY.

the nation's Sabbath and it should be sacred to the memory not alone of our dead, but of the cause for which they died and died. Prosperity walks hand and hand with business activity, but when the whirl of business drowns the voice of your fallen heroes, then the open shop and busy store is a curse to a community. Sports are essential, for they are the mystic springs that keep burdened men young and boys from growing old before their time, but when sports intoxicate a nation's conscience and shut from its mind the picture of the past, then sports are a poison, eating at the very vitals of a nation. Let July 4 be a day of sport and noise, for it is a day of celebration. Memorial day is a sacrament. Then let business and sport stand in silent embrace in hallowed recognition of a sacrifice that built them a home of joy and power. For the sake of a free people and unborn generation keep Memorial day as a sacrament, and do not blaspheme it with the noise of sports or the din of traffic, for the destiny of our nation is linked in no small degree with the sacredness of the day.

And where is the responsibility for its perpetuation more urgent than here in Connecticut, the state that sent ten men to the front for every one her allotment demanded; or here in Norwich, the home of Buckingham whose words of April 16, '61, must be a slogan of this commonwealth: "Connecticut moves slowly, but the good old state is true and sure when once started;" here in Norwich from which from Stephen with Brown at Harper's Ferry to the boys at Appomattox had her delegates in the conclaves of a war that decided the destiny of a free people, and, under God, gave a legacy to all humanity the hope of a true and abiding democracy.

Must Be Zealous of Our Legacy.

The founders of this republic gave us a rich heritage and faithful to your high ideals of citizenship you bequeathed to us a democracy unshaken by schism's hell. We must show ourselves worthy to be your descendants by acting upon the lessons of citizenship, by the learning of which you augmented your inheritance. Proud of our heritage, we must be zealous of our legacy, dominated by the high ambition that the coming generation may be as proud of us because of our deeds of peace as we are of you because of your deeds of war.

To accomplish this there is no need of a new kind of patriotism. Recall the day of enlistment and define your patriotism. Live again that awful day, when as lover, brother, husband, father, you gathered the loved in the court of meditation and decided to throw to the winds the hopes of a cherished future and throw your lives on your country's altar.

Was it a patriotism of war? You shrink from such a thought. Ah, sir, it was a patriotism that lived notwithstanding war. And the patriotism that is worthy of the name is the same today. Customs of peace may change. Tactics of war may vary, but the principles of true citizenship are eternal.

Bright is Future With Promise.

The future is bright with promise. The demagogues of political life, bosses of municipal and national politics—four cankers of our body politic—begin to feel the grip of a patriotic citizenship. East and west are finding that multiplicity of interests and immensity of territory are only a bond of closed unity. North and south, forgetting all asperities, are erecting one enduring monument to the cherished dead—a united people, and in blazon letters of promise a patriotic, united, progressive republic rewrites its legend of determination the words of immortal Lincoln, "That this nation under God shall have a new birth of freedom, and that the government of the people and for the people and for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Fellow citizens, our nation has not sprung full grown in its present greatness from the forehead of chance. We are a great republic because the dominant citizenship has been great, whose molding hand has shaped our present and a scrub future demands a great citizenship today. And no one generation has a monopoly on our country. Washington and his patriots, Lincoln and his heroes, and the unborn citizenship of the future millennium unite with us in exclaiming, Our country one and inseparable. The past is secure; what of the future?

"No fear for them! In our lower field, Let us toil with arms unstained Till at last we be worthy to stand with them On the shining heights they have gained. We shall meet and greet in closing ranks In Time's declining sun, When the bugles of God shall sound recall And the battle of life be won."

Following the four verses of American, taps were sounded by Prof. J. Herbert George and the procession reformed for the return down Broadway to Buckingham Memorial, where they dispersed.

Refreshments by Relief Corps.

During the remainder of the afternoon the band gave a concert in front of the memorial, while refreshments were served by the women of the Relief Corps to guests and participants in the hall where tables were spread. There were baked beans, brown bread, rolls, doughnuts, cheese and coffee, served under the direction of Mrs. William M. Perkins, while those who assisted were Annie L. Rawson, Harriet L. Kinney, Miss Florence Robbins, Anna B. Wheeler, Louise Standish, Dorthea Balcom, Gertrude Johnson, Hattie L. Jewett, Emily Irish, Gertrude Tootill, Ida R. Green, Lillian Brewster, Josephine Hiscoc, Esther H. Blinn, Julia A. Kies, Charlotte Preby, Margaret Dean, Mary E. Eswick, Alice Peale, Julia Allen, Nellie E. Bailey, Harriet Pendleton, Belle Moore, Susan Underwood, Frances B. Miner, Susan E. Kampf, Eva W. Caulkins, Harriet L. Jewett, Laura J. Hutchins, Annie E. Woodman, Annie A. Dean, Harriet L. Jennings, Angeline P.

The veterans and their friends spent a couple of hours at the home following the parade reviewing old times. Many congratulations were received on the successful observance, which passed off very smoothly in every particular, and in a manner most creditable to those in charge.

A SOUVENIR OF OLD NORWICH.

A Photographic Reproduction of the Norwich Mercury.

Mayor Castello Lippitt of Norwich has received from Archie H. Newhouse of Norwich, England, a photographic reproduction of the first copy of the Norwich Mercury, which was printed Saturday, Nov. 11, 1780, just sixteen years before the first copy of the Norwich Courier was printed. It was accompanied by the following letter:

The Rt. Hon. The Mayor of Norwich, Conn., U. S. A.:

My Lord—I enclose herewith a photographic copy of the Norwich Mercury, published in 1780, of which the original is now in my possession. I shall be glad if you will accept same, as undoubtedly it will be of much interest to your good self and your fellow citizens.

Believe me to be, Your Obedient Servant, ARCHIE H. NEWHOUSE.

The fac-simile is printed on cardboard about 5x8 inches, and presents the blemishes and well as the perfections of this old newspaper of 130 years ago, and is a prized example of typography, when newspapers were not common.

The souvenir was properly and gracefully accepted by Mayor Lippitt in his own name and the name of the people.

Good Luck Fishing.

E. B. Nash and William Marryander of Norwich were the guests of Alfred Linderson at Ashwille Saturday. The day was spent in fishing and Mr. Nash brought home 16 trout and 2 bullheads. The fish were caught in the ponds and brooks on the Vergason farm.

"And can you conscientiously recommend this young man as a minister of the Gospel?" "Sir, I have seen him put a 15 collar on a 15 1-2 shirt without uttering a profane word!"—Cleveland Leader.

GIVEN HIS TICKET FOR NORWICH

Thomas C. Chase Went to Hartford With Others Who Left Him.

Thomas C. Chase, 15 years old, who says that he lives at No. 43 Maple street, Norwich, called at the police station Monday afternoon and wanted to be sent home, says the Hartford Times. Thomas says that in company with other boys he left Norwich at 7 o'clock Sunday morning, arriving in Hartford about 1 o'clock in the afternoon. The other boys started away on Monday and he did not know the way home and had no money. The charity department saw that the boy received his ticket for Norwich.

The boys made the trip to Hartford on their bicycles to visit an uncle of one of the boys, and returned on Monday.

"I see they have stopped kissing at railway stations in France, because it delays the trains." "Um. When it comes to kissing one's best girl goodbye, what is a railway system, anyway?"—Life.

The American legation at Lima forwards a translated copy of the Peruvian government's announcement of December 15, 1909, granting a monopoly in foreign manufactured tobacco. The selling price is to be fixed by the government in accord with the monopoly company.

A PRODUCT OF NATURE

Warmed into life by the sun shining on Southern Cotton Fields, nurtured by rain and dew, the Cotton plant concentrates in its seed that life-giving and life-sustaining quality which is the basis of Cottolene. From cotton field to kitchen, human hands never touch the oil from which Cottolene is made. It is a product of nature. Lard comes from the fat of the hog—often impure, always indigestible. Cottolene, on the contrary, is made from vegetable oil, and jelly made from the juice of choicest fruit is not more pure or easily digested than this product of the oil expressed from the kernel of the Cotton seed.
